Time to be Suc-SYNCytial: Managing Respiratory Syncytial Virus in HSCT Patients

Session Date: 04/30/2024

Session Time: 11:00 – 11:45 AM (CST)

Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

Respiratory syncytial virus (RSV) continues to be a frequent community-acquired respiratory virus in adults after hematopoietic stem cell transplantation (HCST). With 30% of patients progressing to a lower respiratory tract infection, RSV can have serious life-threatening complications. Currently there are no FDA approved medications to treat adult HSCT patients who contract RSV. This presentation will explore current evidence for the off-label use of ribavirin in the treatment of RSV infection in adult allogeneic HSCT and discuss therapies that can be utilized for the prevention of RSV in this population.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Describe the pathophysiology and progression of respiratory syncytial virus (RSV) infections in allogeneic hematopoietic stem cell transplant (HSCT) patients
2. Examine current evidence for inhaled and oral ribavirin in the treatment of RSV in high-risk allogeneic HSCT patients
3. Construct an RSV prevention plan for an allogeneic HSCT patient
