Beyond Steroids: Ruxolitinib, ibrutinib, and belumosudil for pediatric GVHD

Session Date: 08/13/2024

Session Time: 11:00 – 11:45 AM (CST)

Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

Graft vs host disease is a serious complication of allogeneic stem cell transplantation resulting in significant morbidity and mortality for pediatric patients. The cornerstone in managing both acute and chronic graft vs host disease is corticosteroid therapy, however, there are circumstances in which patients become steroid-refractory or steroid-dependent necessitating alternative treatment options. Over the past few years, several new therapies have gained pediatric approval for the management of acute and chronic graft vs host disease. This presentation will review the literature behind the use of ruxolitinib, ibrutinib, and belumosudil in pediatric graft vs host disease.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Define steroid refractory and steroid dependent graft vs host disease (GVHD) in pediatric patients
2. Evaluate the literature for the three most recent drug approvals for steroid refractory acute and chronic GVHD in pediatric patients
3. Select an appropriate therapy for steroid refractory acute and chronic GVHD in pediatric patients
